DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of short length. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 2 use of "an/or" doesn't make sense. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "to one or more OFDM subcarrier symbols" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bohnke et al (US 2002/0102940 A1).

Regarding claim(s) 1, 10, 12, 15, 16 & 18 Bohnke discloses an OFDM system (Fig. 1, abstract) comprising:

an adaptive bit loading block (Fig. 4) to receive channel state information for a plurality of subcarriers and to select a modulation scheme and a puncturing pattern for each of the plurality of subcarriers or for each of a plurality of subbands based on the channel state information (Claim 1, paras 12 and 38, modulation scheme is selected for each of the subcarriers and applying a puncturing pattern within blocks 3 and 4 (Fig. 4));

a puncturing block (Figs. 1 & 4, puncturing blocks P1, P2) to puncture a coded bit stream for each of a plurality of subcarriers or subbands in accordance with the selected puncturing pattern (para 12, a puncturing pattern is obtained based on desired code rate);

a mapping block (Figs. 1 & 4) to map a coded and punctured bit stream output from the puncturing block to one or more subcarrier symbols for each of the plurality of subcarriers or subbands (para 12, mapping block 7 map the coded bit stream and output to symbol generator 26).

Regarding claim(s) 2, 3, Bohnke discloses an encoder coupled to the puncturing block to produce the encoded bit stream (Fig. 1, ref. 2, para 12).

Regarding claim(s) 4, Bohnke discloses subbands comprises a plurality of subcarriers (general spec).

Regarding claim(s) 5 & 14, Bohnke discloses mapping block 7 to map a coded and punctured bit stream output from the puncturing block to one or more OFDM subcarrier symbols (Fig. 4) for each of a plurality of OFDM subcarriers (para 12 mapping block 7 map the coded bit stream and output to symbol generator 26).

Regarding claim(s) 6, 7 & 11, Bohnke discloses OFDM modulator to modulate a selected subcarrier symbol onto a OFDM subcarrier for each of a plurality of OFDM subcarriers (Figs. 1 & 4, modulation is done by the bit mapping block and than forwarded to OFDM generator 26, paras 1-3).

Regarding claim(s) 8, 9 & 17, Bohnke discloses a puncturing pattern and/or modulation scheme are selected such that one or more sets of output coded bits in a puncturing pattern may map onto one subcarrier or one subband (para 35, link adaptation 17 (Fig. 3) selects suitable modulation scheme).

Regarding claim(s) 13, Bohnke discloses a puncturing block to puncture a coded bit stream for each of a plurality of subcarriers (Figs. 1 & 4, puncturing blocks P1, P2).
